

Eid Has Come

Mawlānā Tamir Shujaiddin (Teacher at Madrasah Baytul Ilm)

Eid has come, shiny and bright,
Eid has come, filled with light.
Eid has come, smiles everywhere,
Eid has come with gifts to share.

Eid has come with drinks and food,
Eid has come and set the mood.
Eid has come, new clothes to wear,
Eid has come with love and care.

Eid has come with friends & family,
Eid has come with refreshed unity.
Eid has come with hugs and joys,
Eid has come with presents & toys.

But is this the case for everyone?
Are all enjoying games and fun?
It's not always smiles and cheer,
For many, Eid is still not here.

Without a home, without shelter,
Without happiness, without laughter.
Living scared, living in fear,
For many, Eid is still not here.

Without family, without a friend,
Feeling hunger that knows no end.
Losing the ones who are so dear,
For many, Eid is still not here.

Oppression is seen all around,
No safe haven to be found.
Their voices, no one there to hear,
For many, Eid is still not here.

Eid has come, for us with bliss,
Eid has come with nothing amiss.
But for others, joy is not so near,
For many, Eid is still not here.

So whilst we enjoy this special day, Turn to Allāh and remember to say,
Oh Allāh grant them ease & comfort, Shower them with aafiyat & rahmat.
